Program Description

The Administrative Fellowship program reflects Premier Health commitment to executive education and development of talented individuals seeking leadership in health care. Hands on experience in operational and financial settings is a critical success factor in health care management and Premier hopes to facilitate that experience for its Fellows. The Administrative Fellowship program also reflects Premier Health’s dynamic, mission driven commitment to workplace diversity and inclusion by identifying and recruiting a diverse pool of high potential individuals. Retention of high performing Fellows for full time, post fellowship job opportunities enables Premier Health to devote its individual and collective resources and energy to achieve a shared purpose. Premier Health embraces each Fellow’s rich and varied perspectives, potential, new ideas and heightened sensitivity to the needs of the people we serve.

Health care is constantly facing changes and challenges. The growth of managed care, as well as constraints imposed by federal and state legislation, call for hospitals and other providers to rethink the way they deliver care. If there is any certainty about the future, it’s that the survival and success of health centers will demand exceptional leadership and management skills from their administrative team.

Through the Administrative Fellowship, Premier is preparing confident, flexible, dynamic leaders and critical thinkers who are not afraid to take chances and who can work collaboratively to solve problems during this complex time.

“The Administrative Fellowship program provides a unique career opportunity of an organization’s inner workings at the highest level. It is rare to have this opportunity early in an administrative career. The learnings from this exposure are applied over and over in one’s individual career path.”
Who Is Premier Health?

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Policy

Premier Health is committed to providing equal opportunity for employees and applicants and—in accordance with state and federal law—prohibits discrimination against a qualified individual on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, disability, national origin or ancestry, veteran status, pregnancy, marital status, genetic information or other protected characteristics. In addition, the hospital does not consider an individual’s sexual orientation in decisions involving employment opportunities.
Learning Through Executive Interaction

As a vital part of Premier Health administrative team, Administrative Fellows work side by side with respected Premier executives and directors as they develop their management and leadership skills. In return, Premier Health draws on the unique talents and creative ideas of participants to help develop innovative approaches for delivering clinical care and services to patients.

Because in-depth exposure to a broad range of management issues and interaction with senior-level executives are among the key purposes of the program, each fellow participates in some governance-related activities and regularly attends a variety of board meetings, senior management team meetings and conferences.

Step By Step

The Administrative Fellowship offers a high-quality experience to help each Fellow climb the health care ladder by:

• Gaining broad-based exposure to an integrated health care delivery system.
• Developing and utilizing leadership and management skills.
• Taking part in hands-on experience in hospital administration through active involvement in program development and day-to-day operating activities.
• Enabling participants to explore various professional and management opportunities within the health care industry as an aid in making career choices.
• Participating in individualized ongoing performance improvement and leadership development coaching.
• Collaborating with senior clinical and organizational leaders to explore new strategies, learn new skills, delve into best practices and share efforts and expertise.

“The Fellowship program expanded my knowledge of the health care system from clinical to administrative functions. The experience was worthwhile as I gained hands-on exposure from administrative projects and the opportunity to manage a clinical area while in the Fellowship. I gained a wealth of experience from my Fellowship training that ultimately has aided me in my career.”

Administrative Fellowship
The two-year fellowship program is flexible in allowing the development of individual interest. At the same time, the learning environment provides a directed framework that fosters insight into the management dynamics of a not-for-profit health care system. During the first year of the fellowship, the Fellow spends most of his or her time rotating through the major departments of Premier Health. This rotation provides the Fellow with the opportunity to become oriented to Premier Health and its related entities. The required rotation departments include:

- Finance and Accounting
- Human Resources
- Corporate Marketing and Communications
- Physician Practice Development
- Strategic Planning and Business Development
- Hospital Operations – Support Services
- Information Services

The rotations are developed and monitored by senior management preceptors and the responsibilities and assignments are primarily project-oriented.

During the second year of the fellowship, the technical, professional and personal skills of the Fellow are enhanced through participation in the decision-making processes of Premier Health. In concert with top level management, the Fellow participates in clinical, financial and personnel decisions. The Fellow is expected to provide Premier Health with increased administrative expertise and to contribute ideas that significantly enhance the system’s ability to provide quality patient care. The second year is much more flexible by nature than the first year because it is tailored by the Fellow to enhance individual career goals and objectives.

“Premier Health fellowship program provided me the opportunity to jumpstart my career in the health care industry. The management experiences gained, contacts met, and mentoring provided by the leadership team have prepared me for a successful future in the complex and ever changing world of health care today.”

“While I was in graduate school in St. Louis, I knew I wanted to pursue a fellowship program that values its fellows as part of the executive team. The Fellowship gave me all the tools I needed to be a successful health care executive. The fact that there were eight fellows in the system in various leadership roles was a strong testimony to the program for me. Now, being three years out of the fellowship, the program has afforded me the skills I needed to operate both at a hospital level as well as in an integrated health care system. The support and mentorship I get from the senior executives has been incredible.”
